2022 OH! WHAT A YEAR IT WAS!

Our Board of Directors welcomed the start of fiscal year 2022 with the first face-to-face meeting in more than a year. A few days later one board member, and then another reported testing positive for COVID, sending our regularly scheduled board meetings back to Zoom for another year. The whiplash did not end there. As COVID infection rates began to decline, we implemented plans to reopen to guest shopping at all our pantries. Then came another surge and, out of an abundance of caution for our staff and volunteers, we returned to curbside service for several months more.

On the heels of a record setting 2021 the number of guest visits began declining and the food being distributed to neighbors began declining. Owing in part to the child tax credit, increases in SNAP allowances and other government relief there were fewer neighbors seeking help from our pantries.

The pandemic taught us that circumstances can change quickly. Guest demand, food recovery and availability, and the cost of food from Northern Illinois Food Bank can rapidly increase or decrease, impacting our operations. Our goal is always to respond to our guests' needs in any circumstance. Food donations and supply were strong so we continued to provide abundantly to neighbors visiting the pantry and increased the frequency with which they could visit to weekly. As the end of the year approached, demand began returning to prior year levels, then it exploded to record levels while the supply chain collapsed.

And we continue to serve the hungry in our communities seven days a week! We are honored to have been named a top-tier producer by Northern Illinois Food Bank. (See page 9).

You, our volunteers, and donors have propelled us forward and we are most grateful for your trust and support.

NEW YEAR BRINGS NEW CHALLENGES

In the last calendar quarter of 2022, we saw a dramatic spike in neighbors visiting our pantries. Many are first time guests new to the food pantry experience and many are new to the community. Adding to the challenges of an increasing number of households to be served is inflation in the cost of food which tripled over the prior year.

Our goal, as always, is to welcome neighbors with kindness and compassion and to meet their food needs. Increasingly, to be good stewards of our resources, we are finding it necessary to limit quantities of food available to each shopper and to distribute food according to family size, where small families of 1 or 2 get quantities that make sense for that number, and larger families get more food to feed the adults and children in the household.

WELCOME BRYAN KELSEY!

At our annual meeting in July, NFP welcomed new board member, Bryan Kelsey. Bryan is a resident of Geneva and a member of St Michael's United Church of Christ congregation in West Chicago.

As a practicing attorney, Bryan brings strategic planning, financial management and human resource skills to help NFP fulfill its mission. Bryan is sensitive to the judgement people sometimes experience when food insecurity becomes politicized. As a goal for his board service, Bryan says, "I would like to play a role in ensuring anyone in need of food assistance is able to get the nutritional, cultural, and desired foods they would have access to in a grocery store."

Bryan's initial term is for three years, ending in June, 2025.

VOLUNTEERS KEEP US RUNNING

Our volunteers are the special people that do everything to keep our pantries open and able to serve neighbors who come to us for help. Here are just a few examples of the important ways volunteers share their time and talent with us to make a difference for our community.

DRIVERS

More than 60 percent of the food we distribute is donated by local grocery stores. It is collected seven days a week by a team of drivers who make their rounds to various stores, load hundreds of pounds of food, then deliver it to one of our pantries where it is added to inventory for distribution to neighbors.

Drivers come from all walks of life, and many are retirees. Tom Swanson (pictured), our volunteer of the year, first started volunteering when he retired from his full-time job at General Mills in 2005. Tom chuckles as he shares his advice to anyone anticipating retirement: "Stay active, otherwise you sit at home, watch TV, get fat and die." On a much more serious note, Tom adds that he sees the face of God in the people we serve. In appreciation for Tom's 17 years of volunteer service, he was our candidate to be recognized at the annual Giving DuPage Volapalooza event.

GUEST CHECK-IN VOLUNTEERS

All our guests are registered on their first visit to an NFP pantry and checked-in on each visit thereafter. Volunteers like Margaret Wiermanski (pictured), who speaks some Spanish, but does not consider herself to be bilingual, are a great asset to our pantries. Especially now when we are welcoming new families daily. Margaret is on the board of the CBOE Digital Exchange and a published author. As a 20-year volunteer, she sees the impact NFP has on the lives of people we serve, the working poor, elderly with limited income, and disabled people who need help. She says she enjoys the camaraderie with other volunteers who are all committed to the mission of NFP.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR: NEW DATE FOR SHOPPING CART SHUFFLE

Our annual 5K event is moving to JUNE 24! Organize your team to join in this family-friendly walk or run and help us raise money to fill shopping carts all year long. Register your team today: Http://raceroster.com/71131.

FOOD PANTRY VOLUNTEERS

Operating a food pantry takes a lot of work of all kinds. Sometimes volunteers help guests with their shopping. At other times they are restocking shelves, rotating meat in the freezer, or culling produce. Jorge Chavez (pictured right at the Adventist Health Wellness Fair), a volunteer at Family in Faith, has done it all. Jorge came to the pantry as a community service volunteer needing to complete several hours of court-ordered service. Jorge is bilingual and has helped at health fairs, community events and at many pantry distributions. He continues to volunteer regularly even after completing his required service hours. Brian Ratliff (pictured left), site coordinator at Family in Faith, says Jorge is the only community service volunteer with his own fan club!

TECHNOLOGY VOLUNTEER

Distributing food to hungry neighbors seems easy enough, yet even this service has been impacted by changing technology, and we struggle to keep up with the pace of change. Sharon Johnson (pictured), a Wheaton resident, and retired director for AT&T, has invested many hours doing data entry of thousands of guest records. She will also be trouble-shooting for our site coordinators as they learn the new Link2Feed system which is used to track household visits and helps us maintain accurate records of the households and individuals we serve. Link2Feed is a web-based pantry management system available at no cost to partner agencies of Northern Illinois Food Bank.

These are just a few examples of the stellar volunteers who help create a welcoming experience for neighbors in need of a little extra help. A diverse community of over 200 talented volunteers keeps Neighborhood Food Pantries open to serve those in need of food for any reason. Your talents are welcome, too! Contact any pantry coordinator or staff member to get involved. See the staff list on page 2.

FLOWERS FOR BEVERLY

Last summer Arthur Frey, a West Chicago neighbor, visited our Fremont pantry for the first time. His next-door neighbor, Beverly, urged him to visit the pantry where he could choose his own food rather than a random assortment of food selected by a volunteer who did not know his situation. As a two-time cancer survivor, Arthur has a lot of difficulty finding foods he can eat and enjoy.

Oral cancer combined with surgery and many weeks of radiation therapy has damaged his teeth and taste buds. He once received help from Meals on Wheels and found he was unable to eat any of the food he was given.

Arthur worked in the glass division of Pittsburgh Paint and Glass for 20 years and is unable to return work now due to his health.

As a registered pantry guest, Arthur can browse in the pantry and choose the foods that are best for his health and dietary needs. He appreciated the kindness of pantry staff and noticed cut flowers that had been donated by one of our retail partners. One of our pantry volunteers told him that he was welcome to take a bouquet of flowers in addition to any food he chose.

"Really?" he asked? "I want to take these to Beverly. She's so nice to me and a good neighbor."

Neighborhood Food Pantries welcomes all neighbors in need of food. If you know of someone who could be helped, please advise them to visit the nearest pantry as Beverly did for Arthur.

NEIGHBORHOOD SERVANT AWARD HONOREES

Recipients of the Neighborhood Servant Award were honored at our Annual HarvestFest event on October 22. The award recognizes an individual or organization for extraordinary generosity or service to Neighborhood Food Pantries.

ROTARY CLUB OF CAROL STREAM

Since 2011, the club has organized a community-wide food drive, collecting shelf-stable food at multiple locations in Carol Stream. We are grateful to be included as a beneficiary of this community service project. The club also coordinated a multi-club donation to benefit Neighborhood Food Pantries three years in a row.

THE JORDAN FAMILY FOUNDATION

Since 2018, The Jordan Family Foundation has underwritten our Milk-to-My-Plate program providing more than 15,000 gallons of milk to our pantries for families with growing children.

Carol Stream Rotary President, Marina Mattingly and John Pappanduros.

Rosemary Argus, Deborah du Vair and Dave Savini.

LIFETIME SERVANT AWARDS

Lifetime Servant Awards recognizes longstanding dedication to our mission. Two partner churches were honored this year.

ST. ANDREW UNITED METHODIST CHURCH

Joining the NFP network in 2010, St Andrew provides needed support to its Carol Stream neighbors, many of whom walk to the pantry on Monday evenings. St. Andrew is managed entirely by volunteers who welcome guests, maintain the pantry inventory and operate a small clothing closet, all within the fellowship hall.

IMMANUEL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The sixth pantry to join Neighborhood Food Pantries in 2011, Immanuel Presbyterian was the vision of key members of the congregation who saw a need in Warrenville. The pantry enjoys the support of many active volunteers and currently provides food for 1500-2000 people per month during two pantry days per week.

Pastor Deborah Kang and volunteers of St. Andrew United Methodist Church accept the Lifetime Servant Award.

Don Bauer and Pastor George Garrison of Immanuel Presbyterian Church with Lifetime Servant Award.

JEWEL IN WEST CHICAGO CONNECTS NEIGHBORS TO NUTRITIOUS FOOD

Neighborhood Food Pantries celebrates its partnership with local grocery stores. Thanks to the Direct Connect program, NFP receives donations of produce and also shelf stable items six days a week from 20 area retailers.

Pete Joy, a former assistant store director at the Jewel-Osco in West Chicago, recalls having a special fondness for his Sunday morning shifts, because that's when a food recovery van from NFP arrived at the store. He shared, "When we heard the bell, every department brought what they'd set aside. Produce is there, my dairy guy's had his stuff, and we completely loaded up that van. The volunteer who drives the van is great. He always thanked us for what we do."

Coordinated by Northern Illinois Food Bank, Direct Connect links retail stores to local food pantries. Direct Connect enables local pantries to pick up donated product directly from grocery stores on a regularly scheduled basis.

A big fan of the Direct Connect partnership is Adam Thill, produce manager at the West Chicago Jewel. He explains, "[Before Direct Connect] we'd always hate to see things go to waste. For years we were throwing so much stuff out, and now we're not doing that anymore."

A grocery store bears costs for hauling dumpsters away to the landfill, and when these are filled with perfectly good food, no one wins. But the Direct Connect program redirects this nutritious, desirable food to the shelves of NFP's food pantries.

Sometimes when new items are introduced, it takes a while for the corporate office to know the best quantities to order. A new bagged salad, for example, may be over ordered. The extra now goes to NFP, and not in the dumpster.

"Whatever we can give to you to go into someone's belly and not in the dumpster, I'm happy," says Thill.

Thill trains every member of his team about how and when to pull items for NFP. "Whatever is edible goes in the boxes [for NFP]," he says. Because the food recovery vans take the items directly to the food pantries at the Fremont Street site in West Chicago, or one of the other NFP pantries, the food is distributed to neighbors that same day or the next day.

Thanks to Thill's commitment and leadership, and with the support of store director Elaine Erickson, this Jewel store donated nearly 263,000 pounds of food in 2022. They are a leader among all the Jewel stores in Northern Illinois.

Store Director Erickson is simultaneously proud of her team and deeply concerned about their neighbors in West Chicago. She loves how NFP serves the community and says, "It's awesome. We know that people have lost jobs and families are hungry. To know we are helping our own community is heartwarming."

Former Assistant Store Director Pete Joy, who worked at 36 different Jewel locations over his 48 years before retiring, summed up the West Chicago Jewel team's feelings about NFP: "The food pantry is great," he says. "The way it helps the local community is wonderful!"

OUR NETWORK PARTNER

Our partnership with Northern Illinois Food Bank, which acquires food directly from manufacturers, allows us to maximize the donations we receive to provide food security to our neighbors in need.

FEEDING LOCAL FAMILIES FUNDRAISING CAMPAIGN

Since 1999 Neighborhood Food Pantries has provided food, nourishment, and care to families in need. The number of adults, children and seniors in need has increased over the years, and NFP has grown in response to the need—from three church pantries serving their communities to six pantries caring for neighbors in DuPage County and beyond. You, our volunteers and donors, have propelled us forward and we are most grateful for your trust and support. Your support ensures that NFP can continue to carry out and expand its mission and have the financial resources to respond ever changing circumstances. We provide nutritious food to our neighbors in need at no cost to them.

Board Chairman, Dave Henderson, at campaign launch event.

However, acquiring the food we give, maintaining and insuring six vehicles, dozens of refrigerators and freezers and compensating our small staff are real expenses. To ensure that NFP has the resources to maintain and improve our facilities and equipment, our Board of Directors established a Capital Improvement Fund and set a fundraising goal of $200,000. The campaign was launched in October, 2022 and we have commitments of $110,000 so far.

We welcome pledges, stock gifts, donor advised fund gifts and Qualified Charitable Distributions.

For more information on how you can support the campaign, please contact Pete Kinsella, Development Director at 630.632.7014, Pete@Neighborhoodfp.org.

MATCHING GIFTS INSPIRE GENEROSITY

Drs Michelle Tran and David Ho and their sons, Ethan and Eli are longtime donors to Neighborhood Food Pantries. Last summer Ethan and Eli encouraged their parents to use their annual gift to inspire others to support the food pantry, so the family set up a $5,000 matching fund and matched gifts from new monthly donors' dollar-for-dollar. Their generosity and creativity inspired new donors to enroll as monthly donors which are now recognized as Sustainer Partners (see page 10). These loyal donors support our operations month in and month out helping to keep our shelves stocked and our vans rolling. Thank you Ethan, Eli, Michelle and David for many years of support to our mission.

Ethan, Michelle Tran, Eli and David Ho.

NEIGHBORHOOD FOOD PANTRIES NAMED A TOP TIER PROVIDER

Neighborhood Food Pantries is an independent partner agency of Northern Illinois Food Bank, which means that we can purchase food from the Food Bank at reduced prices compared to retail. This year, in coordination with the DuPage County Board, NFP was identified as one of four top-tier providers based on the volume of food distributed. Other organizations in the top tier include Loaves and Fishes, People's Resource Center, and West Suburban Food Pantry.

Individually, our pantries are small, but in aggregate we distribute millions of pounds of food each year. As a result of our high volume and commitment to community, we have been awarded $115,000 in American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) funding administered by the county.

LUTHERAN CHURCH OF THE MASTER RENOVATION

Lutheran Church of the Master is where Neighborhood Food Pantries began as the vision of Pastor Eric Dawson. The space allocated to the food pantry sits within the community room outside the church sanctuary. Open four days a week for more than 20 years, the pantry needed some repairs to ensure the safety of guests and volunteers and to improve the shopping experience. A team of volunteers, led by our Board Vice-chair, John Pappanduros and Site Coordinator, Carol Platt organized the project scope, timeline and vendors to replace the flooring, install new lighting, and paint the pantry. The project was funded by NFP with the help of a small grant from Northern Illinois Food Bank.

Jan Konewko, August Elliott, Pastor Dave Elliot and Carol Platt.

GIFTS OF STOCK ARE A GREAT WAY TO HELP OTHERS

The Neville kids grew up in Glen Ellyn, in a modest home with childhood memories of gravel streets and open fields before the building boom. Their parents Irwin and Eunice Neville instilled the values of education and helping those who are less fortunate which led siblings Martha and Mike Neville to both volunteer with Neighborhood Food Pantries after retiring from their careers.

Martha became involved in the Hunger Ministry at St. Isidore Parish which led to helping on occasional Saturdays at the NFP pantry at Resurrection Church. "I really wanted to reach out and help others. Maybe God was leading me down a path to share some of the many gifts given to me," Martha said recently. She continued to volunteer, then joined a committee or two. Martha was elected to serve on our Board of Directors in 2017 and Mike joined the Board in 2019.

Recently, Martha made a major gift to our capital fundraising campaign with appreciated stock on behalf of the Neville Family.

"NFP is very worthwhile cause. Giving stock is an easy way to make a major gift to help neighbors in need in my community," she said.

She explained that if she had sold the stock from her IRA she would have incurred tax on the distribution. By making a charitable gift, she could help others and receive a charitable tax deduction as a bonus. "I would prefer the money go directly to help those in need instead of the government."

Martha added that the decision was easy, and so was the process. The DuPage Foundation was helpful and guided her financial advisor on how to transfer the stock to benefit Neighborhood Food Pantries.

For more information on gifts of stock, contact Kate Monteleone, Executive Director, at 773.332.7839 or The DuPage Foundation at 630.665.5556.

The heavy metal band Metallica headlined at last summer's Lollapalooza event that brought 400,000 music lovers to Chicago's Navy Pier for four days of music.

Metallica has established a foundation focused on hunger relief and contributes a portion of ticket sales to the foundation which makes grants to organizations fighting hunger in the cities where the band performs.

Neighborhood Food Pantries was honored to receive $20,000 from the All Within My Hands Foundation to help address hunger in DuPage County.
